

“Breaking Away: Micronations, Microstates, and the Contestation of Sovereignty in East Central Europe, 1918–Present: Political Thought, Aesthetic Output, and their Afterlives”

Moise Palace, Cres, Croatia (August 31–September 1, 2023)

Thursday, August 31

9:00-10:00: Jeremy F. Walton (University of Rijeka, ERC REVENANT), Welcome address

10:00–10:30: Coffee break

10:30–12:30: Post-post-imperial Austro-Hungarian Microstates

Cody J. Inglis (Central European University Budapest/Vienna, ERC NEPOSTRANS), Nationalist Separatism as the History of State-Building, as the History of Political Thought: The Case of Deutschsüdmähren, 1918 and After

Samuel D. Albert (Fashion Institute of Technology and Fordham University, New York City), Art Exhibitions and Political Justification: the Hungarian Soviet and the Horthy Regime in Comparison

Csaba Zahorán (Institute of History, Research Centre for Humanities, Budapest), From the independent Szekler Republic to autonomy – the issue of Szekler self-determination

Ivan Jeličić (University of Rijeka, ERC NEPOSTRANS), “I know that that word appeared and that troops and possibly a battalion were actually fighting units which would fight for the realization of that Autonomy”. Fiume Autonomy as a Persisting Imperial Legacy.

12:30–14:30: Lunch break

14:30–16:30: Red Microstates

Hanna Perekhoda (Institute of Political Studies, University of Lausanne), Donets Krivoy Rog Soviet Republic: Bolsheviks in Ukraine between national, class universalist and imperial imagery

Željka Oparnica (Institute of Historical Studies, University of London), Red Adriatic in the interwar period: historical context and historiographical debates of Petrovac Red Comune

Csongor Molnár (Eötvös Loránd University, Budapest), Just a legend? The reception of the Banat Republic in local newspapers and memoirs

Lucija Balikić (Central European University, Budapest/Vienna), Petar Dobrović/Péter Dobrovits's Intellectual Milieu (1900-1922): Between Integral Yugoslavism and Socialist Internationalism

16:30–17:00: Coffee break

17:00–18:30: Post-imperial Austro-Hungarian Microstates

Balázs Ablonczy (Eötvös Loránd University, and Institute of History, Research Centre for Humanities, Budapest), Wilsonism, Interregnum, Adventurism. A Taxonomy of Ephemeral States on the Territory of the Former Hungarian Kingdom, 1918-1921

Christopher Wendt (European University Institute, Florence, ERC NEPOSTRANS), Challenging the Province from its Margins: The Little Tyrols of 1918

Federico Carlo Simonelli (Ca' Foscari University of Venice), The Italian Regency of Carnaro: A Nationalist Free State as the First Step toward a Pan-Adriatic Ghost Protectorate

Friday, September 1

9:00–11:00: Contemporary Microstates

Islam Jusufi (Independent Researcher, Skopje, North Macedonia), Vevchani: imagining sovereignty and its consequences

Keith Harrington (School of History and Geography, Dublin City University), Separatism in the southern Moldova: The Failed History of the Budjak Republic

Ivan Laškarin (Department of International Relations, Friedrich Schiller University in Jena), Introducing Municipal Separatism: A New Perspective on Krajina Rebellion (1990-1991)

Vjeran Pavlaković (University of Rijeka), Memory Politics and Failed Microstates: Second World War Revisionism in the Republika Srpska Krajina (1991-1995)

11:00–11:30: Coffee break

11:30–13:00: Peasant Republics

Jakub Beneš (University College London, School of Slavonic and East European Studies), Peasant republics in Polish Galicia and Slavonia in 1918

Rosario Forlenza (Luiss University, Rome), Republics before the Republic: Peasant Revolts in Southern Italy, 1943-1945

Tamás Révész (Institute of History, Research Centre for Humanities, Budapest), Peasant veterans and their micro-states. The role of peasant war veterans in the creation of micro-states in the territory of the former Hungarian Kingdom 1918-1921.

13:00–15:00: Lunch break

15:00–16:30: Creation and Persistence of (Micro) Borders

Jelena Tošić (University of St. Gallen), Nested mobilities and productive anachronisms. Epistemologies of tracing the (Post)Ottoman “Other” in the Albanian-Montenegrin borderland

Kevin Kenjar (University of Rijeka, ERC REVENANT), Terra Nullius, Phantom Borders, and Micronations: From Liberland to the Hajduk Republic

Goran Stanić (University of Rijeka/KU Leuven, ERC REVENANT), Bosna Srebrena – a story of a surviving Medieval religious micro-state

16:30–17:00: Coffee break

17:00–18:30: Gábor Egry (Institute of Political History, ERC NEPOSTRANS), Dispersed states and patchwork sovereignties. Statehood and the Wilsonian moment from below (keynote speech)

18:30–19:00: Closing remarks

Scientific-Organizing Committee:

Lucija Balikić (Central European University, Budapest/Vienna)

Cody J. Inglis (Central European University Budapest/Vienna)

Kevin Kenjar (University of Rijeka)

Stefan Gužvica (Institute for Philosophy and Social Theory, University of Belgrade)

Ivan Jeličić (University of Rijeka)

Emanuela Erasmus (University of Rijeka), Organizational Secretary and Coordinator